

Press Release

European Network of Transmission System Operators for Gas (ENTSOG) launches an exceptional call for information on infrastructure projects to be included in an addendum of TYNDP 2015. This call is a follow-up of the European Commission request to consider new projects in South-East Europe further mitigating the withdrawal of South Stream.

(PR0082-15, Brussels, 1 April 2015) The European Network of Transmission System Operators for Gas was asked by the European Commission to re-open the TYNDP 2015 to new projects in South East Europe that would mitigate the withdrawal of South Stream. As a result ENTSOG launches today a public call for gas infrastructure projects to be included in an addendum of the TYNDP 2015 published on 16 March 2015. This addendum will constitute in an additional list of projects in the Annex A but without update of the main report and assessment.

This call is strictly limited to projects in South-East Europe mitigating the withdrawal of South Stream. Concerned submitted projects will fulfil the eligibility criteria of being part of TYNDP for the second selection of Projects of Common Interest.

All promoters that considers their projects (new ones or updated version of existing ones) eligible for entry in this exceptional call should submit all mandatory information by 22 April 2015.

Data will be collected exclusively through the online questionnaire used in summer 2014. Project promoters having already submitted a project to TYNDP 2015 can directly use their existing credentials. New promoters are required to approach ENTSOG to receive credentials and the user manual to enter the data collection system.

The European Commission letter is available here.
